Cincinnati "Telegram" Rather Non-Committal

No Definite Plans as to Development of Coast Plant

After a delay of nearly two weeks the Proctor & Gamble people of Cincinnati answered the telegram or communication sent by Mayor James N. Long of Richmond who, being "from Missouri," wants to know for the people whether the corporation has any "serious intentions," and whether the score of proposed inner harbor industrial smokestacks is only a visionary dream of the publicity space writer or the reality broker.

Mayor James N. Long received the following answer from the Proctor & Gamble people, which should convince the most enthusiastic booster that conservatism is the corporation's slogan, and that they do not build industrial plants over night without "thinking it over."

The following is the communication in full received by Mayor Long from the vice-president of the Cincinnati firm:

CINCINNATI, July 3.—Hon. J. N. Long, Richmond, California: Dear Sir: Your telegram of the 29th received here the other day while the writer was in Dallas. We appreciate the attitude of your city council in their desire to co-operate with us in every way and would like to be able to make a formal statement as to our plans in compliance with your request, but it is our opinion that it is inadvisable under existing conditions. You will appreciate that the disturbed industrial and financial conditions might upset any plans that we might formulate. We want to be sincere and do not want to make any statement as to our project which future conditions might make it impossible for us to carry out.

Therefore, we do not think it advisable to put ourselves on record at this time by any specific statement than to say that it is our intention to develop the property recently acquired in your city for our west coast plant, which will bring to Richmond an important and desirable industry. We prefer not to make any statement as to when the plant will be ready for operation.

City Planners Lost in the Shuffle; Found by Scott

City Councilman Scott's inquisitiveness aroused the city councilmen Monday night when he asked for a report from the city planning commission, which has been in a comatose state for the past two years. There seemed to be no excuse for some activity of the commission during this period, as Auditor McVittie stated there was still $2500 in the fund voted by the council. A report is looked for at the next meeting of the council.

City Library Employees to Have Salaries Advanced

The city council has not overlooked the salaries of those employed in the city library. Library employees should receive a substantial advance in wages, as their present modest salaries do not go far in satisfying old H.C.L.

Gas Rates Advance Granted P. G. & E.

The railroad commission yesterday allowed an increase in gas rates to the P. G. & E. Co. The new rate schedule is from 5 to 15 per cent higher per 1000 cubic feet, about a 10c raise. Oakland and San Francisco consumers will pay $1.05 per 1000 cubic feet.

of the inner harbor project, we will only repeat what we said in the letter addressed to the honorable council of your city under date of May 26, that the completion of this project will in our opinion do much to hasten the industrial development of your city, and that we hope it will be acted upon favorably by your citizens at the coming special election.

Trusting that the above expression from us is along the line of what you want, we beg to remain, yours most respectfully,

PROCTOR & GAMBLE.

Big Sign "Richmond" Ready to Be "Lit Up"

The 40-foot electric sign "Richmond" will be illuminated Saturday night for the first time, the connections being made under the supervision of Fire Chief Lemoine. This sign will light the way and serve as a guide to travelers who use the state highway, many of whom pass on north at this intersection without seeing Richmond.

Richmond's Ice Plant Has 900 Gallon Capacity

The Polar Ice Cream plant at 193 Espee avenue begun operation today. E. Baker is the proprietor of the plant, which cost $10,000. The capacity of the plant, it is said, is 900 gallons per day.

$35,000 Damage Suit

The city of Richmond, jointly with Richard Downer, contractor, and H. D. Chapman, superintendent of streets, was made defendant in a $35,000 damage suit Monday. The suit is brought by Leon P. Hayward and his wife Amelia, for injuries alleged to have been suffered by Mrs. Hayward when she fell into a ditch on San Pablo avenue March 14. They were walking along at night and the ditch was unlighted, the complaint states.

Contra Costa County Y.M.C.A. Soldiers' Fund Is $1250

Contra Costa county will receive $1250 for its allotment out of the three million dollar fund available for educational work. An executive committee for the county has been appointed as follows: Henry A. Bush, C. L. Abbott, W. H. Helms, T. A. DeLap and R. H. Latimer.

This committee will formulate plans for administering the fund in Contra Costa county.

Ex-service men are eligible and are permitted to make their selection of any of the 250 courses.

Carpentier, Heavyweight Boxer, Returns to France

George Carpentier, the European Champion heavyweight boxer, sailed from New York for France last Saturday. He was accompanied by his wife and manager. Carpentier's tour of the U. S. netted him $150,000, some easy money, considering he did not go against Dempsey or any of the hard ones. Carpentier is planning to return again in December. The "pickens" are good in America.

Sheriff Veale Nabs Thug Bushing in Santa Cruz Mountains

Sheriff R. R. Veale made an important capture Saturday night when he trapped Robert Bushing at a lumber camp in the Santa Cruz mountains. Bushing had previously been jailed at Martinez on March 21, and while awaiting trial had, with the assistance of fellow crooks, sawed his way to liberty. However, his liberty was not lasting. He is now back in the cell he formerly occupied, and it is across the bay for him. He was one of the gang who staged the Pinole holdup, when J. W. Ingersoll was robbed, and Constable McDonald did some good work in a rough and tumble capture.

Judge Golden of San Francisco attended the council meeting Monday night.

New C. of C. Secretary to Be Named This Evening

Formal action will be taken this evening by the Chamber of Commerce in the selection of a secretary. Several high class applicants for the position will be considered. A salary commensurate with ability and results will be paid a live secretary, and the members are more than willing to go "south" for the mazzuma if the right man can be placed on the job.

Treasurer's Report

There is cash on hand in the city treasury $230,736.42, apportioned among the banks as follows: Bank of Richmond, $35,724.09. First National Bank, $29,352.20. Mechanics Bank, $108,302.54.

Railway Franchise For Industrial District

Richmond city council went on record Tuesday night as opposing exclusive franchises for railways entering the inner harbor industrial district.

The meeting was called for the purpose of conferring with the Southern Pacific, which company has made informal application for the renewal of a steam franchise over Cutting boulevard. No representative of the company appeared, and the council proceeded with other business.

The joint franchise plan as proposed by Councilman Scott is favored by the council. Scott suggested Herman avenue as a suitable street for the railway.

Bryan at Boise, Idaho

William Jennings Bryan in an address at Boise, Idaho, Tuesday night, censured both old parties for their nomination of alleged wet candidates, who sidestepped both prohibition and League of Nation planks in their platforms.

Reappointed Library Trustees

Carrie B. Trull and Ruth Tucker were appointed library trustees by the council Monday night.

The report of the librarian was: Receipts for past year, $21,779.79 disbursements, $19,132.83.

New Garage at 15th Street

Construction work on the new garage at 15th and Macdonald was started Tuesday. The building will be concrete, to cost $10,000. A local automobile dealer will occupy the new building.

Sent to Napa

Andrew Klarklowsky, automobile top trimmer who conducts a shop at 115 Macdonald and who has been mentally unbalanced for some time, was taken to Napa Monday to be treated at that institution.

CITY BRIEFS

Peter Farrell, veteran Santa Fe railroad man, now holding a responsible position at 1228 40th avenue, Oakland, was a Richmond visitor yesterday.

The avenue is to be checked from 5th to Tenth for the parking of autos. Nine feet from the curb is the dead line.

Chief Lemoine's report for June of fire losses is proof that Richmond property is well protected. The total losses for June from fires was $8325. Number of alarms turned in averaged one each day.

Big Bay Shore See-Dro Separator Has $10,000 Fire

The See-Dro separator plant at Third and Gilman near Albany's city limits, which covers an area of two blocks and is valued at a million and a half dollars, came near being destroyed by fire Tuesday night. Quick action by Edward Rupert, night watchman, who turned in an alarm, saved the big manufacturing plant.

The entire fire department of Berkeley answered the call, and with 6000 feet of hose laid and a low water pressure, it looked like total destruction for the big See-Dro plant, which includes the old wooden furniture factory building, a bay shore landmark.

But for the relaying of fire engines and a long line of hose from the California Ink Co.'s emergency water supply, the plant would have been entirely destroyed.

As luck would have it, the high wind was blowing favorably for the firemen, who had the flames under control by 11 o'clock, the alarm being turned in at 9 p.m.

All bay shore trains were held up two hours on account of the blaze.

On account of fire damage 450 employees were thrown temporarily out of work.

Sad Home Coming

Sedkwick Kistler of Lockhaven, Pa., who was a delegate to the democratic national convention at San Francisco, and Mrs. Kistler arrived home yesterday with the body of their daughter, Gertrude, who was drowned in the Yosemite July 14.

Jack Johnson Has Good Press Agent

TIAJUANA, Mexico, July 15.—Jack Johnson, ex-champion heavyweight pugilist, is still in Tijuana and will stay here until he receives the desired amount of publicity to further the promotion of another contest, which he hopes to pull off in the near future. Johnson says "there is nothing like free publicity, when one understands the trick of getting the press agents a-going."

War Tax Eats Up the Pennies

The government has coined four billion copper pennies and the U. S. treasury is still empty of the little coins. The government is running three 8-hour shifts coining the pennies, and is still behind in orders.

Pullman Nurseryman Robbed

Y. Yoshima, Japanese nurseryman, residing just outside the city limits of Richmond in the Pullman district, was robbed by two masked bandits who entered his home and took $60 in money, he reported to the police here at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon. Officers at once left for Oshima's home to investigate the case. He did not say what delayed him in reporting the robbery. The Japanese said he was awakened at 4:30 Monday morning by two men in his room. One of them commanded him to "sleep," he said, and threw the blanket over his head. He peeked out and saw one of the men, whom he described as medium sized.

The men ransacked the bureau drawers and went through Oshima's clothing, getting a total of about $60 or $65 in money. They also broke open his baby's bank and took the small change it contained. Nothing but money was taken.

McVittie Appointed Richmond Manager

Salaries Advanced All Along the Line by City Council

Richmond city council advanced the salaries of all city employees, deputies and subordinates right down the line approximately 10 per cent Monday night.

This advance was expected, and in fact has been coming up for some time. While the salaries may appear large in figures, the money buys little, for the purchasing power of a dollar is small compared with old times. A $200 per month salary today is about $75 real coin compared with the pre-war scale.

To maintain the efficiency of the police and fire departments nearly all the bay cities have advanced salaries, and find it difficult to retain men at advanced wages.

The city clerk's salary was formerly $240, now $265, a raise of $25. This is about the ratio of advance affecting the entire city pay roll.

While the advance in wages in the aggregate will amount to approximately $10,000 per year, it will work no hardships on the taxpayer, and insures the city good service.

Boiler Shop, 5; Barrel House, 0

Pandemonium does not express it or near describe the big noise at the First street baseball grounds yesterday evening when the boiler-shop vanquished the barrel house 5 to 0. The game drew a record crowd.

A successful way of keeping the boy on the farm is to keep a girl on the adjoining farm.

Salary Fixed at $4200 Per Year or $350 Per Month

Former City Auditor J. A. McVittie was appointed city manager of Richmond by the city council Monday night. His salary is to be $350 per month or $4200 per year.

The city manager will have supervision over the heads of all departments of the city with the exception of city clerk and city attorney. Manager McVittie assumed the duties of office yesterday.

James McVittie has served the city for the past 12 years as city auditor, and the selection by the city council is said to be a wise one by those who are acquainted with the city's affairs, and the efficient service McVittie has rendered in the past. He is qualified to fill the place, and has received the congratulations of many friends.

He is succeeded as auditor by his deputy, Miss Marie Whiteside, who is familiar with the duties of the office, having served a number of years as assistant to Auditor McVittie.

The temporary headquarters of the city manager will be in the auditor's office.

Japanese Schools Near Sacramento

School authorities are investigating the charges that Japanese schools are in existence in the Florin, Sierra and other districts near Sacramento. Publisher McClatchy, when before the congressional committee Monday, made the statement that Japs are conducting their own national schools after school hours, and that English is not taught in them at all.

WHO'S WHO IN DEMOCRACY— COX AND ROOSEVELT

Candidate for President Is Farmer Boy Who Worked Way Up to Newspaper Proprietor— Roosevelt's Career Tale of Progress

THE career of Governor James M. Cox, Democratic Presidential nominee, began on a farm. He worked his way to be an editorial writer on the Cincinnati Enquirer; owner of the Dayton Daily News and the Springfield Press-Republican, when he formed the News League of Ohio; and thence to politics, being a member of the Sixty-first and Sixty-second Congresses, and eventually becoming in 1913 Governor of Ohio, which office he now holds.

Cox was born on a farm near Jacksonburg, Butte county, Ohio, March 31, 1887, the son of Gilbert and Eliza A. Cox. As a boy he learned to know what chores were early in the morning and late at night. As soon as he was able he spent more time at work than play.

Cox as a boy attended country schools, and later was graduated from the Middletown High School. He always was earning money of his own by doing odd jobs. He was once a janitor in a rural church. Later he was a newsboy, working up to a printer on a Middletown

FRANKLIN DELANO ROOSEVELT selected by acclamation as the nominee for Vice-president at the final session of the Democratic national convention Tuesday, was born at Hyde Park, Dutchess county, New York, January 30, 1882, the son of James and Sara (Delano) Roosevelt. Of Dutch origin, the family came from Holland in 1648, and in later generations intermarried with Flemish, Scotch and Irish settlers of what is now the city of New York.

Roosevelt, receiving his preparatory education at Groton School, entered Harvard College and was graduated in 1904 with the degree of A. B. He then became a student in Columbia Law School, and was admitted to the New York bar in 1907.

In 1910 he was elected State Senator from his district, and during his term served as chairman of the Forest, Fish and Game Committee, and was a member of the Railways, Canals and Agricultural Committees.

He was re-elected in 1912, but resigned in 1913 to accept an appointment as Assistant Secretary of the Navy by President Wilson. His record with the Navy Department during the war has been worthy of commendation.

weekly, doing these things to help finance his way through school, which looked to him like a very advanced education. He never attended college.

After his graduation from high school Cox taught in rural schools for several years, but having a liking for the newspaper business, he became a reporter on the Middletown News-Signal, then still owned by John Q. Baker, his brother-in-law, remaining here until he secured a place on the Cincinnati Enquirer.

Cox purchased the Daily News at Dayton in 1898. The paper was at that time operating on a losing basis. However, he finally succeeded in making it yield a profit. Five years later he bought the Springfield Press-Republican, and today both newspapers are highly profitable institutions.

He was elected to Congress in 1908 and re-elected in 1910. In this capacity he attracted the attention of the State Democratic leaders, and in 1912 at the last nominating convention held in the State became the party's candidate for Governor and won. His election in 1918 made him the only Democrat elected Governor three times in the normally Republican State of Ohio.

Governor Cox is a lover of the out-of-doors, plays golf, hunts and fishes, rides horseback, takes long hikes. He is stockily built, with a strong neck, indicative of combativeness, and has remarkable physical endurance. He is an eloquent campaigner and after-dinner orator.

The Governor lives, when not at the executive country home in Columbus, in a beautiful country home at Trail's End, near Dayton. He was twice married. The present Mrs. Cox was Miss Margaretta Blair, daughter of Thomas S. Blair, Chicago business man. They have a seven-month-old daughter, Anne. Governor Cox's other children are, Mrs. D. J. Mahoney, Dayton; James M. Jr., and John Cox. The latter are in school. The Governor is a member of the United Brethren Church.

The slip which caused the slayer's downfall was a detail following the actual murder that he had apparently not planned closely enough. It was the numerals on an automatic pistol borrowed from his cousin, Fred Wanderer, because he thought it could not be traced as easily as his own weapon, an Army gun.

When he had committed the double slaying he laid his cousin's revolver by the side of the unidentified stranger and told his wife that he had been shot in the exchange of bullets which passed between him and the "hold-up" man.

The suspicions of the police were aroused by the unemotional manner in which he related the shooting incident. As he sat in the North Robey street station on the night of the crime he talked of baseball, the war, politics and other trivial subjects as though the loss of his wife had not affected him.

Presno.—Seven firemen were injured and $150,000 damage was done by a fire which completely destroyed the Brooks Furniture store and building on the 900 block of J street between Kern and Tulare streets here beginning at 10:30 p. m., July 10, and continuing until 1:30 the following morning. At the latter hour the fire was got under control. Three or four of the firemen are seriously hurt. The origin of the fire is unknown.

MURDERER SAYS MONEY WAS MOTIVE

Lt. Carl Wanderer Confesses 'Framing' Chicago Crime With Man He Also Slew

Chicago.—Carl Wanderer, former army lieutenant, has solved the mystery surrounding the killing of his wife, Mrs. Ruth Wanderer, and the ragged stranger—a crime which occurred in the vestibule leading to their flat on the night of June 21.

"I murdered them both," he said simply.

Then he began a cold recital that horrified his audience.

"I didn't want any one else to have her if I couldn't," he said. "I wanted to get back to the Army. I thought it would be better to have her dead."

He also wanted to obtain her savings—$1500—he explained.

He told in detail how he hired a tramp—unknown to him even by name—at Madison and Halsted streets, so that he could stage a mock hold-up on the threshold of his home and kill her.

21-year-old bride, who was soon to become a mother, and his confederate. Then he read the confession over meticulously, corrected it and signed each page without a tremor. He concluded by ordering a plate of pork and beans for supper.

"I want to be hanged," he told reporters, while awaiting his food. "I hope to join her in death. I wonder if she will forgive me. Well, I loved her too much to let another man get her. But I didn't want her myself."

Night was falling and dusk shadowed State's Attorney Hoyne's private office when the man decided to "come clean."

"Let me clean up and I'll tell you everything," he said. Secretary Geo. T. Kenny ran for a toothbrush, toothpaste and a safety razor. Wanderer washed and shaved calmly.

Then he seated himself before the State's Attorney, his aides, a stenographer, and the police, and told them the following:

"I shot my wife. Then I shot the bum because I was afraid he would squeal. I did it because I was tired of her. I wanted to go back to the free and easy life of the Army. I wanted to get the dough she had, so I figured it all out and planned to make it look like a robbery."

"Monday afternoon I went downtown to buy some butcher knives for my father's shop. When I got them I went over on West Madison street, near the Midcity Bank at Halsted street. There I found the bum. I asked him if he wanted to earn some money easy and he did. I let on I wanted him to drive an automobile. I told him to meet me at 7 o'clock at Lincoln and Lawrence avenues."

"The Saturday before I had told my wife to draw the money out of the bank so we could buy a house. Wanderer got it where I could lay my hands on it. She had brought it home and put it in the bureau drawer."

"So Monday night I met the bum at Lincoln and Lawrence. I told him I wanted him to help me frame a robbery and said he should wait for me at the corner for me and I would show up at 9. I went home and had supper, put both automobiles in my pockets, and took Ruth to the Pershing Theater, near Lincoln and Lawrence."

"The picture was the 'Sea Wolf.' We didn't have time to get to the corner for me and I would show up at 9. I went home and had supper, put both automobiles in my pockets, and took Ruth to the Pershing Theater, near Lincoln and Lawrence."

"When we walked into the vestibule he stepped up to me and said, 'Hand over that money.' Just as I told him, I drew my gun and shot her first."

Here for the first time the man showed emotion. He cleared his throat, passed his hand over his freshly shaven chin and continued:

"I shot her and she fell. Then I shot him three times. He was afraid he would still be alive to talk when the police arrived, so I beat his head on the marble floor so he would be unconscious. Then the police came and I went over to the North Robey street station and told the story just as I had planned it."

Wanderer said he had forgotten all about the $1500 in the excitement following the murder, and because of this his mother-in-law, Mrs. Charles Johnson, with whom he and his murdered wife lived, found it in the bureau drawer.

It was the discovery of the money which, in a measure, caused the police to suspect the former army officer. It led to the theory that he engineered the murder to get possession of the cash, or that the slain stranger had come to the door of the Wanderer home to blackmail the wife.

The slip which caused the slayer's downfall was a detail following the actual murder that he had apparently not planned closely enough. It was the numerals on an automatic pistol borrowed from his cousin, Fred Wanderer, because he thought it could not be traced as easily as his own weapon, an Army gun.

Men who are entitled only to the medal and ribbon will not be shown on these lists but will be issued the medal and ribbon on presentation of their discharge certificates at posts and recruiting stations. San Jose.—Mrs. Martha E. MacChesney, widow of the late Thomas Clark MacChesney, died July 7 at her home here after an illness extending over several months, but not looked upon as serious by the patient, her family or friends. Thomas Clark MacChesney was an important factor in the up-building of San Jose and was also prominent in San Joaquin valley affairs. He died here two years ago.

San Francisco.—The marriage of Mrs. Agnes Wilson Ogden, 5772 Bush street, to Sergeant Harold Ogden, U. S. A., on June 26 was annulled by Superior Judge Bernard J. Flood, upon the application of Ogden because she already was the wife of W. A. Connor of Vancouver, B. C., when they were married. Connor is her second husband. Mrs. Ogden said her son by her first marriage had been seriously sick for some time and that this caused her to be temporarily insane when she said she was single, gave a false name, and married Ogden.

Sacramento.—Leo N. Williams and Ralph Gaffney were returned to Cripple Creek, Col., July 8 in custody of Sheriff Henry von Buhl, to answer charge pending there in connection with the death of two men following a street fight. Williams and Gaffney escaped from jail at Cripple Creek several weeks ago. Gaffney was recaptured recently and Williams was taken into custody on a ranch near here by local officers. Both men waived extradition.

Los Angeles.—The Federal Grand Jury here July 9 returned four indictments. Two charged James Monroe Flowers, general manager of the United Automobile Clubs of America, and his wife, Mrs. May Flowers, secretary-treasurer of the organization, with using the mails to defraud. Another charged P. J. Hunt, freight claims agent of the Salt Lake route, with conspiring with another man to defraud the government, while the railroad administration operated the railways, through misrepresentation of claims allowed against the company for damages to freight. A fourth charged Ira Hendrick Sample with representing himself to be a Federal officer.

Burlingame.—"Rules for the conduct of monkeys residing in the Burlingame city limits" is the title of an order drawn up by Chief of Police L. E. Cavalier as a result of a rampage that a pet monkey belonging to Dr. J. J. Schultz, 1401 Hillside drive, went on July 8. The monkey, which follows that of a monkey belonging to Mrs. Eugene Murphy, prominent society matron, whose pet ran amuck in a beauty shop, where he split a large quantity of makeup powder, and then performed in trying to beautify himself. Dr. Schultz' pet leaped a fence and inflicted two long gashes on the arm of M. W. Iles, 1457 Balboa avenue. Dr. E. A. Benner had flies removed to the Red Cross hospital for treatment. Chief Cavalier has prescribed strict rules which the owners of these pets must follow or face prosecution.

Berkeley.—Belief that Dennis Keane, wealthy Berkeley yachtman, who disappeared from his home, 2918 Telegraph avenue, Sunday, may have been the victim of foul play, was expressed by his wife July 9. Mrs. Keane said her husband drew $3000 in currency from an Oakland bank the day before he disappeared, and transferred it to a Berkeley bank. She believes he was seen with the money and was followed until the next day, when the first opportunity for his abduction was offered. Mrs. Keane said her husband disappeared the first time he was alone after withdrawing the money from the bank. Every effort of the police to find some trace of him has been unsuccessful, and the search is being extended to all of the principal cities of the Pacific Coast.

San Rafael.—Josiah E. Prescott, an aged photographer, was seriously injured July 9 when he was struck and knocked down by a machine driven by Charles Freitas, son of M. T. Freitas, president of the Bank of San Rafael. Suffering from a possible fracture of the skull and unconscious, Prescott was removed to the County Emergency Hospital. The accident occurred on the outskirts of San Rafael as young Freitas and his father, who was riding with him, were on their way to the southern part of the county. They took Prescott to the hospital in their machine. According to Freitas, the injured man, walking near the curb, suddenly tried to cross the street ahead of the car. Prescott is 82 years of age, and has conducted a photograph gallery here for many years.

"I have tried," replied the man who lacks energy. "The dog won't learn."

Following the delay in securing the proper ribbon and dies it was found that the Marine Corps could not begin its distribution until the army's needs had been provided for.

In addition to the battle clasps and citation stars authorized by the War Department a considerable proportion of the Marines, having served with the navy both ashore and afloat, are entitled to other marks authorized for certain services by the Navy Department.

Accurate lists of all men who are entitled to battle clasps, citation stars and to the insignia authorized by the Navy Department, will be issued as early as possible to all posts and recruiting stations of the Marine Corps. Men who are entitled only to the medal and ribbon will not be shown on these lists but will be issued the medal and ribbon on presentation of their discharge certificates at posts and recruiting stations. Marines who are entitled to both the medal and any of the insignia authorized by the War or Navy Department will be carefully accounted for on the lists.

As fast as received a liberal supply of medals, ribbons, battle clasps, citation stars and the navy insignia will be forwarded to posts and recruiting stations and advanced publicity will be given in due time. A preliminary order for 75,000 medals has already been placed. The issuance of medals and insignia will be endorsed on the discharge certificate of each man now out of the service.

San Jose.—Mrs. Martha E. MacChesney, widow of the late Thomas Clark MacChesney, died July 7 at her home here after an illness extending over several months, but not looked upon as serious by the patient, her family or friends. Thomas Clark MacChesney was an important factor in the up-building of San Jose and was also prominent in San Joaquin valley affairs. He died here two years ago.

San Francisco.—The marriage of Mrs. Agnes Wilson Ogden, 5772 Bush street, to Sergeant Harold Ogden, U. S. A., on June 26 was annulled by Superior Judge Bernard J. Flood, upon the application of Ogden because she already was the wife of W. A. Connor of Vancouver, B. C., when they were married. Connor is her second husband. Mrs. Ogden said her son by her first marriage had been seriously sick for some time and that this caused her to be temporarily insane when she said she was single, gave a false name, and married Ogden.

Sacramento.—Leo N. Williams and Ralph Gaffney were returned to Cripple Creek, Col., July 8 in custody of Sheriff Henry von Buhl, to answer charge pending there in connection with the death of two men following a street fight. Williams and Gaffney escaped from jail at Cripple Creek several weeks ago. Gaffney was recaptured recently and Williams was taken into custody on a ranch near here by local officers. Both men waived extradition.

Los Angeles.—The Federal Grand Jury here July 9 returned four indictments. Two charged James Monroe Flowers, general manager of the United Automobile Clubs of America, and his wife, Mrs. May Flowers, secretary-treasurer of the organization, with using the mails to defraud. Another charged P. J. Hunt, freight claims agent of the Salt Lake route, with conspiring with another man to defraud the government, while the railroad administration operated the railways, through misrepresentation of claims allowed against the company for damages to freight. A fourth charged Ira Hendrick Sample with representing himself to be a Federal officer.

Burlingame.—"Rules for the conduct of monkeys residing in the Burlingame city limits" is the title of an order drawn up by Chief of Police L. E. Cavalier as a result of a rampage that a pet monkey belonging to Dr. J. J. Schultz, 1401 Hillside drive, went on July 8. The monkey, which follows that of a monkey belonging to Mrs. Eugene Murphy, prominent society matron, whose pet ran amuck in a beauty shop, where he split a large quantity of makeup powder, and then performed in trying to beautify himself. Dr. Schultz' pet leaped a fence and inflicted two long gashes on the arm of M. W. Iles, 1457 Balboa avenue. Dr. E. A. Benner had flies removed to the Red Cross hospital for treatment. Chief Cavalier has prescribed strict rules which the owners of these pets must follow or face prosecution.

Berkeley.—Belief that Dennis Keane, wealthy Berkeley yachtman, who disappeared from his home, 2918 Telegraph avenue, Sunday, may have been the victim of foul play, was expressed by his wife July 9. Mrs. Keane said her husband drew $3000 in currency from an Oakland bank the day before he disappeared, and transferred it to a Berkeley bank. She believes he was seen with the money and was followed until the next day, when the first opportunity for his abduction was offered. Mrs. Keane said her husband disappeared the first time he was alone after withdrawing the money from the bank. Every effort of the police to find some trace of him has been unsuccessful, and the search is being extended to all of the principal cities of the Pacific Coast.

San Rafael.—Josiah E. Prescott, an aged photographer, was seriously injured July 9 when he was struck and knocked down by a machine driven by Charles Freitas, son of M. T. Freitas, president of the Bank of San Rafael. Suffering from a possible fracture of the skull and unconscious, Prescott was removed to the County Emergency Hospital. The accident occurred on the outskirts of San Rafael as young Freitas and his father, who was riding with him, were on their way to the southern part of the county. They took Prescott to the hospital in their machine. According to Freitas, the injured man, walking near the curb, suddenly tried to cross the street ahead of the car. Prescott is 82 years of age, and has conducted a photograph gallery here for many years.

Superior Intelligence
"Why don't you teach that dog to do some tricks?"
"I have tried," replied the man who lacks energy. "The dog won't learn."

"Not enough intelligence?"
"Too much. I can see by the dog's expression on his face that dog doesn't see any more sense in the tricks than I do."—Washington Star.

BRANDY VALUED AT $15,000 GONE

Eight Barrels Taken From Haslett Storage Place as Guards Patrol It

San Francisco.—The second liquor theft from the Haslett warehouse at 1200 Battery street since June 15 occurred some time between Saturday night, July 3, and July 9, when eight barrels of high-proof California brandy, valued at $15,000 at current bootleggers' quotations, were carted away.

A rigid investigation of the brandy theft was started by Justus Wardell, Internal Revenue Collector.

What Wardell will attempt to learn is why such a theft could be made when not only guards employed by the warehouse company, but guards representing the government, were on duty night and day.

If the guards were on duty, Wardell wants to know why it was possible for the liquor thieves to remove steel doors at the warehouse and replace them?

The theft of the barreled brandy was uncovered July 9 by C. C. McCaled, a government ranger. He found that the thieves gained entrance to the warehouse by removing the rusty steel doors, without breaking the government seal. Government guards on the night shift assert that it would have been impossible for the thieves to operate without making a telltale racket during their shift.

Every guard, warehouse and government, will be questioned by Wardell. More than seventy bottles of whiskey, property of Goldberg, Bowen & Co., were stolen from the same warehouse prior to June 15. In many instances the bottles had been refilled with water.

The second theft, coming hard on the heels of the first, has moved Collector of Internal Revenue Wardell to start an investigation that will lead to prevention of further larceny, he said.

Los Angeles.—An investigation of alleged graft and protection of vice by the Los Angeles Police Department was requested in a communication Mayor Meredith P. Snyder announced July 9 he was forwarding to the county Grand Jury.

The Mayor said charges of corruption in the Police Department had come from various sources, and he planned to learn whether they were true.

"As the city's Mayor," his statement read, "I have the right to go directly to the Grand Jury with this matter, and that is what I shall do. I do not expect to call upon the District Attorney or anybody else to open up this matter for me."

Thomas Lee Woolwine, District Attorney, said he had been of the opinion for some time that some Los Angeles police officers were corrupt, and he had no doubt some of the grand jurors were of the same view.

"I will be glad to have the Mayor or any other citizen give any testimony on this matter to the Grand Jury," said Woolwine. "But if there is any investigation it will be conducted by the Grand Jury and the District Attorney, according to the law."

MURDER ON INCREASE AND SALOONS GONE

Chicago.—Crime statistics for recent months indicate that Chicago is putting a slight crimp in the activities of criminals, but those two great indoor and outdoor sports, or enterprises, murder and stealing of automobiles, are showing steady gains.

Human life is about the cheapest of all commodities in Chicago and the residents have become accustomed to the average of one murder a day, but automobiles cost money, and the increasing number of thefts is causing anxiety.

Records show that 2151 cars were stolen in the last six months. Of this number 1526 have been recovered. The others have been run into adjoining states, or repaired, or wrecked and reassembled and are a total loss. In all the recent bank and street robberies and raids by labor sluggers, the raiders, in every instance, were riding in high-powered cars they had stolen. Twenty cars have been stolen in the last twenty-four hours. The business is highly organized and there are scattered all over the city alleged garages or wrecking shops in which a stolen car can be disguised very rapidly.

WOOLEN CLOTHES TO GO HIGHER IN PRICE

New York.—Fine woollens not only will not be lower, but are going higher, in the opinion of E. E. Van Ingen & Co., one of the largest wholesalers of woollens in the city. This is made plain in a letter headed "Copy of a letter sent to an inquiring customer," recently sent out to the leading tailors of the city. The letter says:

"Foreign worsteds for spring will cost you from $5 to $15 per suit pattern more than you paid in the spring of 1930. Instead of such goods being more plentiful, there will be fewer of them obtainable and deliveries will be much delayed."

Nearly everything published in newspapers upon this subject is apparently based upon absolute ignorance of present conditions and future probabilities.

Reconstruction
"The problems of reconstruction are very serious."

"They are," replied the woman who takes everything literally. "It's almost impossible to get a carpenter or a plumber to do a little fixing around the house."—Washington Star.

"I fear that bookkeeper is in love," said the teller.

"Why?"
"He just passed me a gush poem to be certified."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

ABOUT REDUCTION

DID you ever eat baked celery? Stewed celery? Celery and oyster broth? Celery is not just a relish to go with a large dinner, it is a splendid food in itself—and it will not add weight. If the woman who wants to reduce quickly, comfortably, and without looking old after she is thin, will substitute celery for soup or fatty vegetables, she will lessen her avoirdupois.

If you want to grow thin, you must not eat milk, cream or cheese, for milk is 4 per cent fat and cream and cheese 18 per cent. You must not eat the meat of the pig—which is 30 to 40 per cent fat, bacon being almost 70 per cent. You must not eat olive oil for that is 100 per cent fat, indeed, it is the fattiest form of nourishment. You must not eat wheat, buckwheat, rice, oats, potatoes, macaroni or corn, for these contain from 1 to 4 per cent of fat. Neither must you eat sugar or candy, figs, bananas, grapes, chestnuts or walnuts, for these contain either fats or carbohydrates, which are fattening.

This sounds like a long list, but in reality it is a very little one. All other meats you can have, and fish and oysters, green vegetables and salads, eggs, fruits. I have given the above list of the foods most necessary to avoid, since it is easy to memorize. The woman going in for reduction will know then what foods not to order for her table. Avoid drinking with meals, as this increases flesh.

The worst things to give up are sugar and butter and cream. But tea taken weak with lemon is more delicate than tea with cream and in place of sugar one can purchase saccharine. (Copyright.)

He'd tell how many centuries he'd done right off the reel! And when he wasn't riding on, he had a pedal off—out a gear, and was as loony over "bikes" as some men over golf.

But now he's in the seventh heaven; there's gear-grease on his mug. And he can tinker all he likes—the village auto bug.

The keenest joy his soul can know is taking one apart. To grind the carbon from a valve plumb satisfies his heart.

To wear a set of jumpers and a greasy cap, why, say! Upon a sea of glory he just simply floats away!

Folks pay him for the work, but shucks! It's such a waste of money. He'd do the same thing for his board, because to him it's funny. He'd use a monkey wrench at meals if anyone would let him. He'd tie his tie with a stiletto—sure! That stunt would never fret him. He hooks up wifery with the pliers, with skilful twist and tug. He eats, drinks, dreams machinery—this village auto-bug.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN WILL "COME BACK"

The assumption by some of the newspaper writers and correspondents who attended the San Francisco democratic convention, or were not far distant from the recent hard fought battle in the selection of a presidential nominee that William Jennings Bryan is now a member of the down and out club and is relegated to the political scrap heap, may be ill advised.

Bryan is far from being a "dead one." A man who can run for President three times with the glitter in his eye and the jazz to back it, will not pine nor permit himself to become despondent over the alleged rebuffs he received by the administration's coterie of job-holders at the San Francisco convention.

Bryan enjoys these little "sojourns," and will lose none of his prestige or friends. Four years hence he will be up again, and it will require a most deceptive "curve" to fan him out.

There is only one Bryan. A man who possesses wonderful magnetism and oratorical ability, who drives home such earnest and sincere arguments on questions of right and wrong, will continue to convince the fair-minded and unprejudiced that he is without a peer as a national figure. He justly deserves the respect of the people.

His failure to insert a dry plank in the democratic platform or to defeat the steamroll league of nations, was not astonishing.

The ovation given Bryan by the convention was the biggest of them all, even if the band did "reign." The Commoner no doubt accomplished as much in bucking the administration forces as was possible under the circumstances.

OIL COMPANIES WILLING TO BE INVESTIGATED

The latest attack on the oil industry is the accusation that the oil companies are creating a gasoline shortage by exporting oil in order to later raise the price of gasoline.

To meet this unjust charge the leading Pacific coast oil companies state they will welcome an investigation by the government. The companies state that only 2 per cent of oil produced and passed through California is used for export purposes. Large quantities are shipped to Washington, Oregon and Nevada, but to prevent this an inter-state embargo and litigation would be necessary and it would be unfair to cut these states off from a supply.

Some day the public is going to wake up to the fact that investigations do not produce oil.

The politicians who for years have blocked oil development may now be able to figure out a way to run automobiles on hot air they emit in their speeches.

TRAVEL HEAVY DURING VACATION SEASON

Travel this season on the peninsula side of the bay is reported exceedingly heavy. The hotels and cottages at the coast resorts at Santa Cruz, Monterey and other watering places are crowded to the limit. Two special trains, in addition to the regular trains from Monterey and Santa Cruz, are run every Sunday evening. An extra Sunday train is also run to Oakland. This is said to be one of the heaviest summers for travel the railroad has ever had.

Laura H. Ryan, Real Estate.

RAILROADS ARE CARRYING LIMIT OF PASSENGERS

Judging by the string of automobiles which congest the highways and byways, one would imagine that railroad trains were deserted. Just the opposite is the situation. While travel via the gasoline route is exceptionally heavy, the trains are crowded to capacity with tourists and local traffic. European travel is curtailed by the effects of the world war, there being no attractions overseas like those of California. Easterners are finding this out, as visitors and delegates to the democratic national convention have proven by their reluctance to return home to that clime of sweltering heat.

RANDOM COMMENT

A neighbor city boasts of having "No Gas" signs hanging out; that their burg is a haven for motorists, who can get all the gas they want. Well, Richmond is not that quiet. The demand for gasoline is greater here on account of the marvelous business activity and the general "pep."

The next session of congress will be compelled to take up the revision of federal taxation. The present system of penalizing industrial production will lead the country into an era of national insolvency, indications of which are beginning to appear in the New England manufacturing districts.

Big business in New York City is going ahead and erecting skyscrapers. Office buildings and factory buildings are going up notwithstanding the scarcity of labor and material, crippled transportation facilities and the high cost. Construction costs are much heavier in the east than in the west. If you are contemplating building, don't wait for falling prices in building material.

BRITISH WOMEN IN AUSTRALIA.

Members of the British Women's mission, appointed by the British government to inquire into the prospects of settling former woman war workers in the commonwealth, must have been amused at the attitude of some state ministers in Victoria and Queensland. In both states the difficulties of pioneering work were pointed out as almost insuperable obstacles but the women's mission, with the knowledge of what had been accomplished in Britain and France, have not been discouraged, and as a result of their work numbers of British women will probably come to the commonwealth within the next year or two. Meanwhile some Australian politicians have obtained a new angle on women's possibilities.
